A panoramic view of a European city, likely Bern, Switzerland. In the background, a tall, ornate Gothic cathedral (Bern Minster) rises above the city. The city is built on a hillside, with red-tiled roofs and green trees. A river flows through the foreground, and a dam with a waterfall is visible on the right. The sky is clear and blue.

Bechyňská Tower used to be a part of the fortification system; it is now a part of the Bechyňský Museum. The top of Kotnov Tower offers a breathtaking view of the surrounding area.

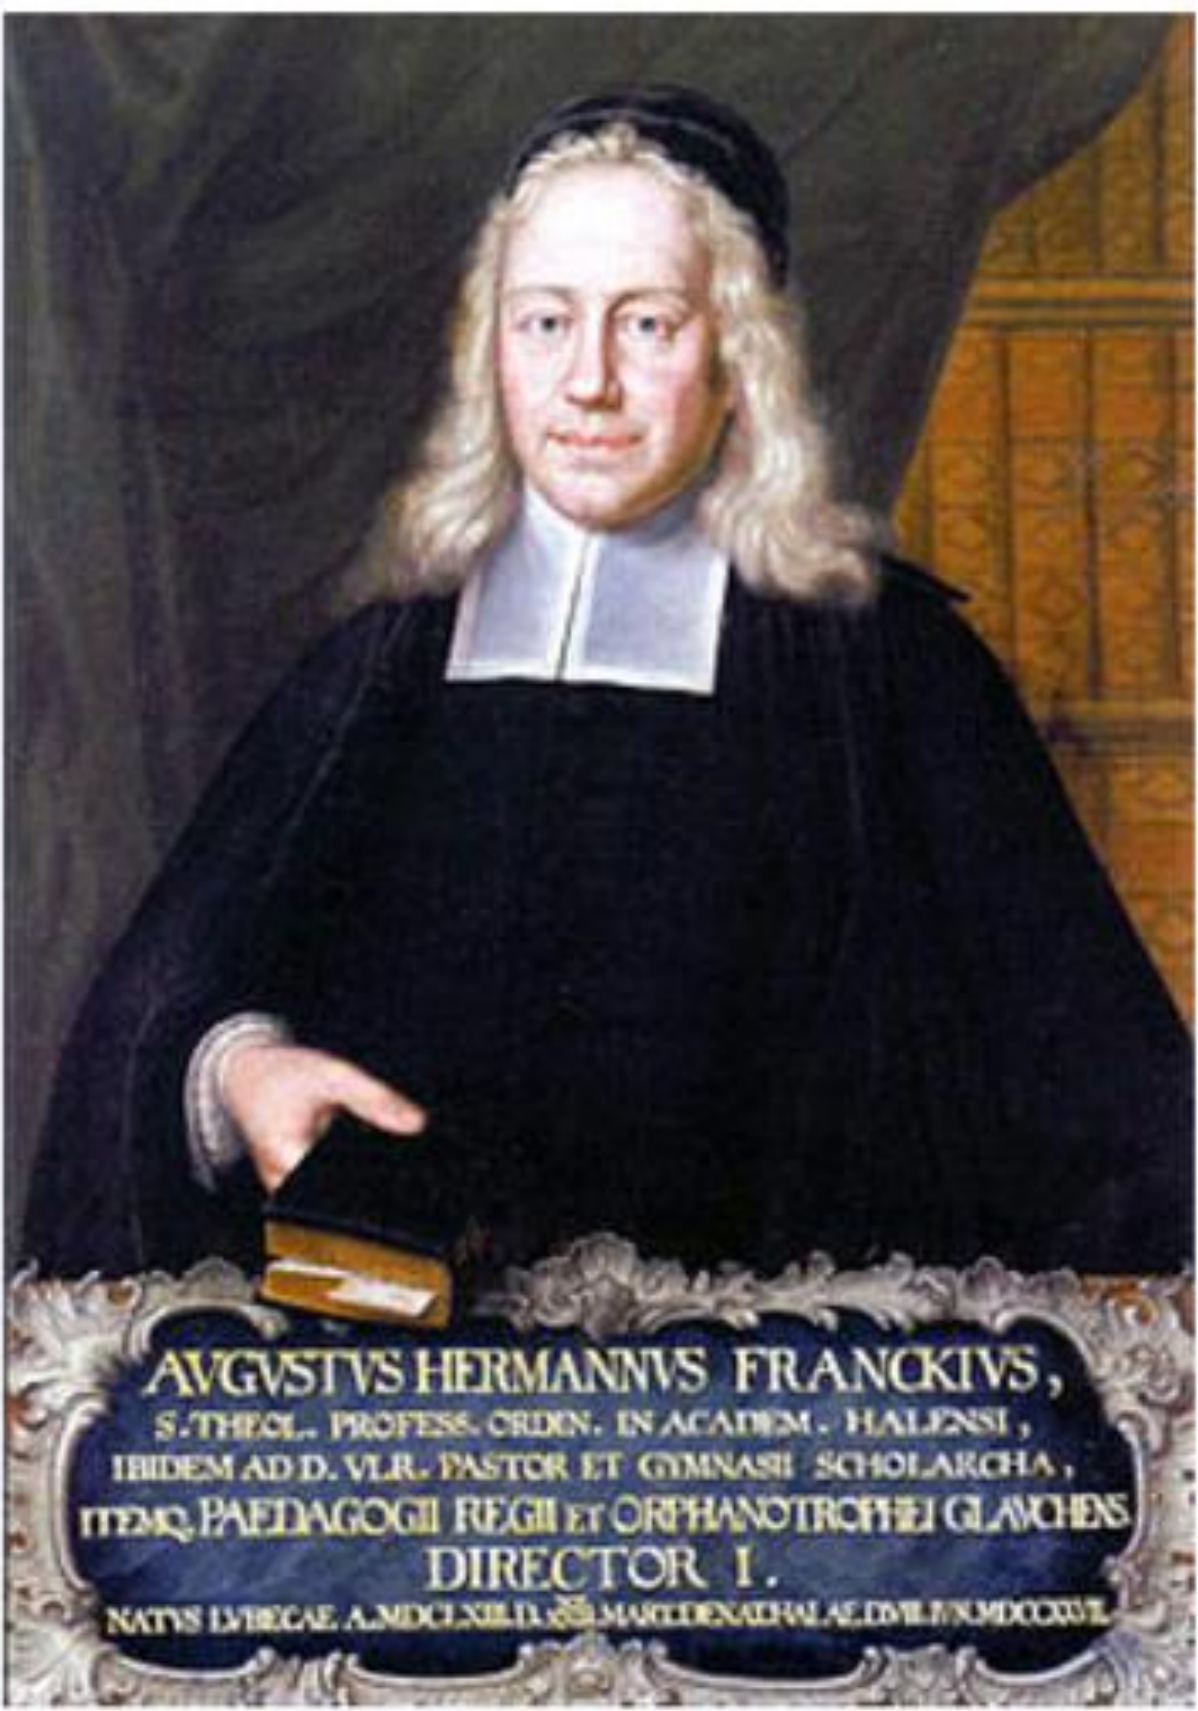

The picture by Jan Willenberk (drawn about the year 1600) gives you a good idea of what the town used to be.

The Lower Raritan River flows eastward from the confluence of the Raritan's North and South Branches at Branchburg to the Raritan Bay. The 30-mile river corridor features over a dozen public parks, miles of bike/pedestrian trails, boat and kayak/canoe launch sites, fishing areas, playgrounds and picnic groves, natural areas, and many historic sites.
